Mariánské Lázně has an abundance of the richest natural healing resources, its basic elements are natural mineral waters, peat, unique natural healing Maria Gas and all existing in our local sub-mountain climate.

Mineral healing waters are a wonder of nature. Using the power of their impact is a guarantee of a long term positive effect. Mariánské Lázně is unique because of its wide variety of mineral waters, all with an individual composition yet all located within a relatively small area. They are used for natural mineral baths, drinking treatments and for inhalations.

Peat is another local natural healing resource and is used mostly in thermotherapy in the form of a pack applied to affected areas. This peat is used not only for packs but also in baths.

Healing gas is basically Maria Gas, a natural carbon dioxide which is used in the form of a dry gas bath and injections to strengthen the locomotive system.

Climate is also an important part of a successful healing stay. The clean and fresh air of our forests and parks contribute to the general regeneration of our clients.

The following elements are also an important part of effective and successful stays:

- change of environment
- climate
- physiotherapy
- balanced nutrition
- healthy living style
- movement

The main aim of a healing stay is to renew and retain an optimal state of health for as long as possible.
